FINALS ATTENDANCE: 3,458

FINAL GAME NOTES: Detroit Country Day solidified its hold on a National High School Sports Record Book mark with its eighth straight MHSAA boys soccer title. Ludington had a goal disallowed because of a hand ball in the opening moments, and then held a Country Day attack which had been averaging over five goals per game in the post-season tournament prior to the finals to one in the first 40 minutes. DCD outscored its opponents, 35-1, in seven tournament appearances. It was Ludington's first trip to the finals.
